Lone witness protection increased

'Spite murder' claim made by sheriff; Joy Lynn, 6, improved, talks to doctor

by JAKE JACOB

Joy Lynn Ladner, 6, principal witness in the murder-arson case involving her mother, Janice C. Ladner, 30, of Kiln, killed early Saturday morning in her residence, and herself a victim of a gunman's attack, having been shot through the right shoulder, has been removed by law enforcement agents, from her hospital bed in Gulfport Memorial Hospital to a location offering greater security.

Still being kept under constant surveillance and heavy police guard, the girl, a first grade student at Christ Episcopal High School, Bay St. Louis, is believed to have witnessed the slaying of her mother and may well be aware of the killer's identity.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said yesterday that, subject to her doctor's approval, he intends to interview the girl, and possibly have a police artist draw a composite of the killer, based on Joy Lynn's description. Sheriff Ladner this week termed the killing "...a spite murder..."

"We are receiving excellent cooperation from the entire community and have every reason to believe we will solve this case.

Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson of the Hancock SO said they intended to "...stay on the case until it is solved," repeating his statement first made alongside the smoldering ruins of the victim's home which was burned to the ground.

The estranged wife of former State Representative Earl E. (Buck) Ladner, she was declared a definite murder victim following the examination of remains by a New Orleans pathologist.

"No smoke was found in the lungs. "Cause of death has been given as a gunshot wound to the right side of her back," Peterson reported.

Doubt has arisen since first reports Saturday concerning the calibre of the murder weapon, at first believed to be a .32 or .38 hand gun.

"We really don't know what type of gun was used but this information should be forthcoming on completion of the autopsy this afternoon (Wednesday)," Peterson allowed.

The chief deputy also confirmed that positive identification of Mrs. Ladner had been made by the laboratory. Prior to this officers had proceeded speculation that the missing school teacher was indeed the victim.

A trail of blood through the woods has confirmed the route taken by Joy Lynn on her dash from the burning house to the home of a neighbor, Charles Curtis, some 500 yards down the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis told investigating officers the girl had been almost incoherent on arrival and covered in blood. It was at first considered the six-year-old had fled down the road running in front of her home, a factor altered in the light of statements she volunteered to her doctor who, in turn, conveyed them to police.

It is thought the killer who shot Mrs. Ladner also shot the girl, leaving her for dead. It is further speculated he set fire to the house in an attempt to cover up the murders.

Sheriff's deputies, first at the scene following a call placed by the Curtis couple arrived at approximately 2:10 a.m., to find all the bedroom area of the house belching fire through the windows, and the interior of the rest of the house full of black smoke.

The extent of the fire's passage through the house could also be seen through a cluster of three bullet holes in the paneling of the front, double door.

Units of the Kiln Volunteer Fire

Department, Diamondhead Fire Department, and East Hancock County Volunteer Fire Department arrived shortly afterwards and attempted entry into the house, using special protective equipment.

Their efforts were unsuccessful due to the ferocity of the fire, resulting in the body not being found until the first grey light of dawn that morning, in the ashes of her bedroom.

"We are trying to establish motive.

"Mrs. Ladner was liked by everybody we talked to, including her students," Ladner said.

The murdered woman was a language arts teacher at Waveland Elementary School and there too she was held in high regard.

"This is not a case of robbery, assault or rape.

"This murder seems to have been done out of meanness or spite," Ladner said.

Space shuttle cluster firing try reveals bugs

by JAKE JACOB

Three Space Shuttle engines, each providing 370,000 pounds of thrust at sea level, all having proved their worth in individual static firing tests, failed their first combined shoot Tuesday at NASA-NSTL.

The malfunction of system occurred as base shuttle engineers attempted to cluster fire the engines in a 2.35 second, less than full power exercise.

A second attempt will be made in the near future on completion of modifications to the system.

The firing failure is in no way reflective on the shuttle power plant's performance capability, but instead again points to the demands and functions of the test center.

Originally known as the Mississippi Test Operation and constructed to captive test fire the first and second stage Saturn V space shot rocket boosters, designation was later changed to the Mississippi Test Facility, and then, on completion of the lunar vehicle tests, to National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL).

DuPont's DeLisle plant threatened by restraint of trade complaint

The $7 billion DuPont Company may be faced with sale of its $150 million titanium dioxide plant under construction at DeLisle if the Federal Trade Commission is successful in an anti-trust action filed against the firm.

The FTC issued a complaint this week alleging that DuPont used unfair methods in efforts to monopolize production of titanium dioxide, the principal product of the DeLisle plant.

The federal complaint which must be answered by DuPont within 30 days, asks for divestiture of two of the company's four TIO₂ plants, specifically the one at DeLisle and either one in New Johnsonville, Tenn., or another in Edge Moor, Del.

The fourth TIO₂ plant is in Antioch, Cal. The federal complaint could result in the company being forced to sell two of the plants to another firm.

The FTC also seeks royalty-free licensing of all technology used by the company in its TIO₂ manufacturing

Hancock County unemployment lowest in area

The February unemployment rate in Hancock County dropped by 1.4 percent compared to the previous month and was some eight-tenths of a point lower than the state as a whole.

The Mississippi State Employment Service reported a total of 6,750 Hancock residents employed and 490 unemployed during February, resulting in a 6.8 percent unem-process.

DuPont officials in Mississippi said Wednesday "We are here to stay."

"We'll be doing the same things today and tomorrow as we were doing yesterday and the day before," said Larry Kniffen, assistant DeLisle plant manager.

Irving S. Shapiro of Wilmington, Del., board chairman of DuPont, said the government's complaint is "solely without basis."

Compretta reports on House bills introduced

Five bills introduced, authored or co-authored, into the last session of the Mississippi Legislature by Representative J.P. Compretta, have direct value to the people of this county.

Of the five, one HB 589, provides means by which the Hancock school system can be paid the $173,636.93 received by the state on oil leases granted in 16th Section lands; the second, which failed in committee, would have allowed counties to be reimbursed in lieu of taxes an amount equal to 15 percent of funds received by the State Mineral Lease Commission on oil or gas leases of wetlands; the third, HB 835, approves means by which minor birth certificate amendments can be undertaken; fourth, HB 566, involves the exemptions of persons adjudged to be totally disabled by the Social Security Administration from purchase of license or permit; and finally, HB 657, the repeal of sales tax on residential utilities.

A sixth bill, introduced by Compretta, passed the house but was turned aside by the Senate, in favor of their SB 2650, which was approved by both houses (when amended to include the HB 827 requirements).

During the 30 day session, which ended Saturday, the legislature considered more than 3000 bills and resolutions. Of the 1528 bills and 205 resolutions introduced to the House, 496 bills and 133 resolutions passed.

HB 589, Allowed the Hancock County School Board to receive that portion of funds received from leases entered into or royalties received from the exploring or exploiting of oil, gas, or other minerals on the 16th Section school lands or lieu lands that fall within the definition of coastal wetlands. It authorized the Mineral Lease Commission to pay to Hancock County School System $173,636.93, received 1st year on 16th Section leasing.

HB 584, failed in committee but Compretta has expressed the hope he

Labor policies, busing, religious issues and fiscal control are ingredients in Bay city school board stew

by EDGAR PEREZ

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board's non-recognition policy toward organized groups came under fire again this week when a board member objected to paying administrators' expenses to a teacher association convention.

"I question the propriety of this in light of the board's policy of non-recognition of organized groups," said Ms. Jean Townsend of Waveland.

Ms. Townsend raised the objection when Superintendent of Schools J. D. McCullough asked for board approval of some $620 in travel expenses for himself, the assistant superintendent, principals and assistant principals who attended a March 20-22 Mississippi Association of Educators meeting in Jackson.

Representatives of the local MAE chapter and the Bay St. Louis local of American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) have twice during the current school year supported unsuccessful efforts by Ms. Townsend to change the board's non-recognition policy.

The board has condescended to recognition of the teacher organization representatives as individuals but not in their capacity as teacher spokesmen.

The teacher organizations have claimed the non-recognition policy is discriminatory, citing board recognition of spokesmen for such groups as parent-teacher organizations and the American Heart Association.

"I don't understand how we can approve expenses for administrators to travel to the convention of a group we don't even recognize," Ms. Townsend complained.

The Waveland representative on the school board insisted such expenses should receive board approval, if at all, prior to the fact, rather than after the money already has been spent.

"We have traditionally sent administrators to meetings and conventions for professional advancement, and we don't feel this is group recognition but rather recognition of the administrator who chooses what meeting he will attend," McCullough countered.

"Just about every day we get a request from somebody to attend a meeting," McCullough continued, "so we try to pick the most important—we are forced to travel to keep up with changes affecting the school system."

"I don't know anyone in the district who really likes to travel," he added.

Other board members supported McCullough's action in authorizing expenses for travel to the MAE meeting, noting school system personnel have received expenses for MAE meetings "for up to 20 years, at least."

"I'm going to vote to approve these bills in order not to work a hardship on anyone in the school system," Ms. Townsend said as she insisted future travel expenses be approved in advance by the board.

An exercise in parliamentary procedure followed a second confrontation between McCullough and Ms. Townsend later in the meeting over payment of a $300 engineering survey fee.

The superintendent sought board approval of the fee for a certified survey by Don Murray to determine the numbers of students to be affected by new transportation regulations adopted at the last session of the state legislature.

The survey also was necessary to certify the district's area in square miles to the State Department of Education for school bus transportation expenditure reimbursements, the superintendent said.

Ms. Townsend questioned the superintendent on whether he had conferred with Board President Virginia Gex on the survey fee.

In addition, the two ladies questioned the superintendent on the necessity of making the survey.

"This has all come up within the last three weeks," the superintendent noted in explaining his haste to find a solution to the problems which have arisen due to the new regulations which require the district to transport any child who lives further than one mile from the school attended.

"I'm sorry I failed to call all of the trustees on this matter, but I thought I was acting in the best interest of the school district," McCullough retorted.

McCullough said the formula followed by the state in determining transportation payments involves, in addition to other factors, the number of square miles in a district.

He said the State Department of Education had credited the Bay Municipal District with only some 8.2 square miles, which is the area of the unincorporated portions of Hancock County included in the district.

The survey was necessary to certify to the state the additional 5.75 square miles of Bay St. Louis and 5.9 square miles of Waveland, the superintendent stated.

Ms. Townsend moved to take payment of the survey fee under advisement. Her motion was seconded by Maurice Singleton.

Members Walter Turcotte and Robert Hamilton opposed the motion, requiring a tie-breaking vote from the board president.

Ms. Gex also opposed the Townsend motion, and called for a new motion. Turcotte offered a motion to pay the fee, seconded by Hamilton.

Ms. Townsend and Singleton opposed that proposal, requiring another tie-breaking vote from the now elated Ms. Gex who had not gotten a chance to vote on an issue yet this year.

She approved the motion and the surveyor got his money.

Under the new state regulations, some 945 additional students in the Bay School District will be entitled to transportation, according to the latest information available, the superintendent reported.

Added to the 500 students already riding buses to school, the new riders bring the district's obligation for providing transportation to a total of some 1,445 students.

At least three, maybe four new buses will be necessary, the superintendent said. Other buses may have to run double routes since some students won't be riding very far anyway.

"We don't have all the answers yet," McCullough said, adding, "But we're better off than some municipal districts."

He noted the Hattiesburg school system is at this time not furnishing transportation to any of its students.

And at the Pascagoula school board meeting this week, Dr. Thomas L. Richey, superintendent, reported some 20 additional buses will be needed in that district.

Churches propose retirement colony

Four Episcopal churches on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, including Christ Episcopal in Bay St. Louis and Trinity Episcopal in Pass Christian, are exploring feasibility of a non-profit retirement colony in the area.

Other sponsors of the non-denominational development are Saint Peter's by The Sea, Gulfport, and Saint Mark's Episcopal Church, Mississippi City.

The proposed colony would provide "independent living with supportive services to individuals and couples over 62 years of age," according to information contained in a survey being circulated by the sponsors.

Responses to the survey are being received at Episcopal Services for the Aging, Trinity Episcopal Church, Box 459, Pass Christian, 39521.

"This would definitely not be a nursing home in any sense of the word," the sponsors stated.

"Units would only be available to those who are physically able to care for themselves. We are considering apartment rentals including one meal with other meals available."

Under consideration are efficiency, one and two bedroom apartments with rents ranging from $300 to $500 per month.

Auxiliary services under consideration include cafeteria and dining room, on call nursing service, transportation, recreations, limited maid service, laundry facilities and library.

Expressions of interest and services desired are being received by the sponsors through Saturday, April 15, without obligation to respondents, the sponsors said.

Our Lady of the Gulf
Catholic

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church's Social Committee is making plans for the First Annual Parish Picnic, scheduled for 12 noon to 5 p.m., Sunday, April 23, on Our Lady's Academy campus.

Each family should plan to bring their own lunch, beverages and chairs.

Entertainment will be furnished throughout the afternoon and the church youth is asked to bring baseball and volleyball equipment. Horseshoes will be available for adults.

Rev. Morgan Kavanaugh, pastor, and the committee are looking to seeing all the families of the parish that day.

Hospital visit is essay topic of Jeffry Mills

"Your brain tells you what to do... it is like a mom and dad" explained Jeffry Mills, a second grader from Quares Elementary School in Long Beach, writing about the class' visit to Memorial Hospital at Gulfport. Jeffry was first place winner of the best story about the visit.

The trip included a tour of the hospital's laboratory, physical therapy, emergency department, radiology, and radiation oncology facilities with an explanation of the importance of each department's role in caring for the hospital patients. Personnel in each department were introduced to the youngsters as they were told what to expect if they should become a patient in the future.

The hospital awarded Jeffry Mills a T-shirt with the hospital logo on it, as well as a certificate declaring him first place winner. Second place was awarded to Tracy Finch and third place went to Michelle Davenport. Mrs. Margaret Starek is teacher of the very knowledgeable group. Judges for the contest were Ted Badger, Assistant Administrator General Services; Mrs. Virginia Jussley, R.N., Emergency Department; Howard Slaughter, Assistant Chief Technologist of Laboratory; and Mrs. Ada Reid, Director of Public Relations at the Hospital.

Down with the ants

A suit filed in Washington by the Environmental Defense Fund against the use of ferriamicide in the South for the control of fire ants raises many welts.

We want to make it clear, before some of you start making sounds about us being against protecting the environment. We feel that our environment should be protected.

The things that worry us are the fire ants. We would like to see some of the folks, who sit on those plush chairs in Washington, try to sit for a few minutes on a fire ant hill.

Or even better have their children stumble into a colony of fire ants.

If ferriamicide is so bad for the environment, how about the Environmental Defense Fund coming up with something as good or better in fighting these pests.

Human death has been attributed to fireants, countless livestock have been killed, and the personal property damage cost runs into the tens of thousands.

Anyone having the misfortune of standing on an ant nest in error, comes to life in a hurry. We have had the experience as have the majority of folks living in the South.

Our area, to us, seems to be fighting a losing battle against the fire ants. If the last stand is taken out of use by the government, what are we going to do? Start shipping colonies of fire ants to the North?

The Environmental Protection Agency has only issued a temporary permit for ferriamicide to be used for one year.

Ferriamicide was developed at Mississippi State University and they are working hard to develop another insecticide which is more biodegradable.

We feel ferriamicide should be used until something better is found.

Letters to the Editor

What is a teenager?

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE MAYOR AND CITIZENS OF BAY ST. LOUIS

What is a teenager and what do we do with them?

They are things to be ignored and pushed aside!

If they play an electric guitar - they are bad because they are noisy!

If they have a trail bike - they are bad because they ride it in the woods!

If they stand on a street corner and talk - they are vandals!

They can't go to a teen center because no one wants a center or teenagers near their home!

Young children mimic them, older folks hate them!

If they have a softball game in the street or strike up their little band or ride a motorcycle the police say they are disturbing the peace.

The city ordinance on disturbing the peace is from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m., but if you are a teenager you're disturbing the peace all the time!

Isn't a noisy, funky band, a racing bike, a drone from the woods, happy voices from a street softball game, nicer than using drugs, breaking and entering, or vandalism?

We don't have a playground in our area, so even toddlers and first graders have to play in the street.

Should we put all teenagers in a can, put the lid on and forget them until they are twenty-one?

Please Mr. Mayor, help our teenagers! And, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, Were you ever a teenager?

Voting precincts

Dear Sir:

This New Law the people voted for is one big mess. I for one am against it.

The idea we on Union Street, just a few steps from the City Hall, we have to drive all the way to the Christ Episcopal Church, to vote.

Something has to be done to change this Voting Law. Just think, in the County Election, Union Street votes at City Hall. Best part is that in the City election, the people on Union Street have to go to Christ Episcopal Church to vote. Frankly, this is very foolish.

Now, in a few months there will be another election for the County and State. Now where will Union Street vote?

Get these elections together.

Sincerely,
Iris M. Koerner

Dear Sir,

On behalf of the 1978 Hancock County National Library Week Committee, I want to express our sincere appreciation for the excellent coverage you and the Sea Coast Echo's staff gave to the Hancock County Library System's National Library Week activities. Your newspapers had much to do with the tremendous success of this very special week at City-County Library, Waveland Library, and Kiln Library.

Through your many articles and photographs of library activities, more people than ever have been made aware of the many services provided by our library system.

Again we are deeply appreciative to all of the people at the Sea Coast Echo for their help and support. National Library Week would not have been the same without it!

express thanks

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the entire "Friends of the Library" organization, I would like to thank you for your support and great coverage of our recent activities.

You were on hand to photograph our very first lifetime member presenting his dues during our membership drive in March. You were at the library, once again armed with your camera, for Field Day on April 1, and for Super Sunday on April 2.

In addition, there were constant publications of the dates and times of our meetings and various special functions in your paper.

Your newspaper has helped make the public more aware of the "Friends."

Thank you for being a "Friend" of the library!

with purchase price and operation expenses costing from $500,000 to $800,000 next year.

In addition to other factors, McCullough said, state transportation funds are based on the district's average daily attendance for the previous year, thus leaving districts to carry on their own for the first year the added expenses brought on by the new regulations.

The Pascagoula school board was told no new state money would be forthcoming to implement the additional busing program.

McCullough noted that under the new law, busing will be required for 363 additional students at North Bay Elementary; 200 at Waveland Elementary; 211 at Bay Junior High; and 171 at Bay Senior High.

As examples of distances one mile from respective schools, the superintendent cited the corner of Necaise and Main Streets from the High School and North Bay, and the Valena C. Jones Center from the Junior High.

Under the current assessment in the district, the superintendent said, the school system is operating under a short term debt limit of $270,000.

He estimated cost of three new buses at $45,000, noting an estimate of some $20,000 has been made on repair of the roof at Waveland Elementary, and some $155,000 of the short term fund has been committed to construction of new food service facilities at the Junior High.

Those three items come to some $259,000 including interest for five years, within the board's borrowing limits, the superintendent pointed out.

"These figures show this school board has been very conservative through the years," the superintendent stated.

"Every municipal school district in the state is going to be buying buses between now and September," McCullough said.

"We must move fast, and even though we do, we may be opening schools without the new buses."

The superintendent said as soon as he receives firm bids on bus bodies, he will bring cost figures on three new buses to the board.

Following board approval, the City Council must approve the adjustment in millage necessary to acquire funds to retire additional short term notes.

In accordance with its policy of non-recognition of teacher groups and recognition of individual teachers, the board huddled in executive session for a 60 minute secret confab with North Bay teacher Nell Woodall.

Ms. Woodall discussed several aspects of administration of the schools, such as the inadequacy of teaching resource materials.

Ms. Gex later requested administrators to pass on to the board all teacher requests for teaching materials.

During the evening's first executive session, the board apparently discussed the expulsion of a Junior High student, and voted in favor of the expulsion upon returning to open session.

In a second secret session from 10:55 p.m. to 11:15 p.m., the board apparently discussed a proposal made earlier in the evening by engineer William Pitcairn to study air conditioning and heating needs at North Bay Elementary and the Junior High at a total cost of some $975.

Upon returning once again to public meeting, the board voted to pay half of the $325 proposed cost of the study at North Bay if that school's PTO agrees to pay the other half.

The North Bay PTO has been attempting to secure board approval to furnish air conditioning at the school with PTO funds.

The board took no action on the proposed study for the Junior High.

A proposal to distribute Gideon Bibles to fifth grade students in the district was unanimously rejected by the board, including Ms. Gex who asked that her opposing vote be recorded along with those of the other board members.

Board Attorney Lucien Gex advised such distribution of religious materials would be in violation of Supreme Court interpretations of the Constitutional provisions for separation of church and state.

Gex noted the Supreme Court has ruled specifically against distribution of Gideon Bibles in public schools.

Along the same lines, the board rejected a proposed holiday on Nov. 1, All Saints Day, listed on the 1978-1979 school calendar.

"It's a Catholic holiday, and I don't see why we should observe it when the Catholic schools don't even observe it," said Ms. Townsend.

The board approved the remainder of the calendar recommended by the superintendent which includes Good Friday as a holiday April 13; sets August 21 for faculty meetings, August 22 for registration and August 22 as first day of school; and establishes Christmas holidays from noon December 19 through January 2.

May 25, 1979, will be the last day of school under the calendar adopted.

In other action, the board:

-Accepted the plans of the Bay High Booster Club to build a 'field house' or shower facilities at Tiger Stadium.

-Approved use of Tiger stadium parking lot for a charitable benefit by the South Hancock County Kiwanis Club.

-Approved a noon Wednesday dismissal of classes at Waveland Elementary to allow teachers to attend the funeral of colleague Ms. Janice Ladner.

-Upon advice from Attorney Gex, declined to discuss with Mrs. Carmella Boyd the matter of providing learning disability classes. "I don't see the point of belaboring the matter if we have to go into a hearing on it next week," Gex said.

-Accepted a bid by Melvin Bunge to erect fencing around a new school bus parking lot at the Junior High for $3,800.

REPRESENTATIVE
ALL ABOUT

What's the mood of the American public?

How about the mood of Americans in Mississippi?

And how will these moods affect government . . . or politics . . . or elections?

Some of the answers will be made known when the Mississippi Economic Council, the state's largest organization of business and professional leadership, gathers in annual assembly in Jackson later this month.

Consider the timing of this meeting.

George Gallup, Jr., president of the nationally recognized Gallup Poll, will be on hand to talk about the "Mood of America," to describe attitudes and opinions of the American public based upon research by his organization.

Later in the day a Baton Rouge business executive, J. R. "Dick" Schneider, will lead a workshop on "Winning Elections with Volunteers," detailing step-by-step procedures for volunteer campaign workers.

Both Ladner and Peterson said they are interested in talking to a person known only as "Chuck" who apparently told people at a dance in the nearby VFW Hall in Kiln of a near accident as he was traveling the road in front of the Ladner residence that night.

According to Ladner "Chuck" allegedly told the dancers that a car had pulled out of the driveway in front of him going so fast it had nearly hit the ditch and taken him with it.

"We want to talk to this fellow to see what more he can add to this story."

"It may be he has a full description of the car and possible information of the vehicle's driver," Ladner explained.

"We are obtaining fine cooperation on this case, but we do ask people only tell us the facts as they know them and not as they imagine them to be," Peterson said.

The lawmen are being reinforced in their effort by units of the Harrison County Sheriff's Office, Mississippi Highway Patrol, State Fire Marshall's Office, Picaune Police Department, Waveland Police Department, and Bay St. Louis Police Department.

Harrison County SO also stationed their crime van on the site and sifted the house wreckage in an attempt to locate the murder weapon.

Following her reporting the family disaster, Joy Lynn was taken to Hancock General Hospital, then to Gulfport Memorial. Her present location will remain a guarded secret until conclusion of the investigations, according to Sheriff Ladner.

Earl E. (Buck) Ladner served as Justice of the Peace for Beat 4 from 1968 to 1972, and as State Representative from 1972 to 1976. A former member of the National Guard, he was unsuccessful candidate for sheriff in 1975. He is presently employed as a facilities superintendent for the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.

The state-wide unemployment rate for February was reported at 7.6 percent compared to 7.9 percent the previous month.

Harrison County's unemployment rate was fixed at 7.1 percent in February, down from the 8.1 percent of January.

In Stone County, the third in the Employment Service's tri-county reporting district, unemployment in February was down to seven percent from the previous month's rate of 9.1 percent.

The total civilian labor force in Harrison County in February was 49,190, with 45,700 employed and 3,490 unemployed.

Unemployed Stone County residents during February totaled 220 with employed residents reported at 2,910.

The state's civilian labor force totaled 967,800 with 894,600 employed and 73,200 out of work.

In the service's tri-county reporting area of Hancock, Harrison and Stone, of a total civilian labor force of 59,470, some 4,110 were unemployed in February and 55,360 were employed, producing an unemployment rate of 6.9 percent.

That figure is down from the 8.0 percent unemployment rate in the area reported for February, 1977, the Employment Service said.

for the process at a cost of millions of dollars, and that's what brought us to a position of leadership," he said.

DuPont accounts for more than 40 percent of the annual production of TiO2 in the U.S. which carried a 1976 value of more than $600 million, the FTC contends.

"The TiO2 market is highly concentrated with the top four firms accounting for more than 80 percent of domestic production and barriers against new entries into production of the chemical are high," according to Alfred F. Dougherty Jr., director of the FTC Bureau of Competition.

The government complaint alleges since 1972 DuPont has used its dominant position and mighty economic power to monopolize the TiO2 market. Construction of the DeLisle plant is expected to be completed in mid-1979. When fully operational, it will account for some 20 percent of DuPont's TiO2 output from the four plants, Kniffen said.

He noted other leading producers include N-L Industries, Kerr-McGee, American Cyanamid and SCM Corporation.

The pigment is used as a whitening agent in the manufacture of paints, plastics, rubber, fabrics, tooth paste and a host of other products.

"You don't realize it, but during the course of a normal day, you are virtually surrounded by TiO2," Kniffen said earlier.

vessels or renovate the ones they operate with now," Lott said. "I am very pleased that this bill now has become federal law."

The legislation authorizes the federal government to guarantee financing for the vessels up to 87 and one-half percent of the actual construction or reconstruction cost. Prior to the legislation's approval, the government could guarantee up to 75 percent of the total cost on loans through the National Marine Fisheries Service.

The practical affect of the new law is to slash in half the amount of money that individual fishermen must invest initially to build a new vessel or renovate an older one. "This new law is designed to make it easier for an individual fisherman to obtain a loan to keep his vessel up to date," Lott said. "By making it easier to modernize vessels, this act will help ensure that the U.S. fishing fleet keeps pace with the latest technological advances," Lott said.

by DIDDY QUINLAN

A listing of our continuous programs, open to anyone willing to participate, can be found in various store and business around town. None of these activities carry a registration or instructor's fee. The only cost accrued is that of the materials used in the class.

PLANNED ACTIVITIES
The activities planned thus far include a basketball class, 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. This class is presently being taught. It is very easy and rewarding. The products of some of our students will be on display at the library.

Each Monday and Tuesday at 7 p.m. a ladies exercise class will be held. Upon request, the class has been changed to this time in an attempt to accommodate more people. The class usually lasts about 45 minutes, consisting of warm-up exercises, a one mile walk and slowing down exercises.

Every Friday at 9:30 a.m. our flower arranging class is taught by Ms. Wilmer Miller. With spring wildflowers coming up, now is a great time to learn this hobby. Ms. Miller is a well of knowledge on raising and transplanting, as well as drying and arranging flowers.

CHURCH SERVICES

On Sunday at 9 a.m. we have a church service at the park. During times of good weather and few insects, we'll have these services outdoors. Inclement conditions will bring the service inside the recreation hall. Brother Barber, has arranged for various churches in his district to come each Sunday.

For a change of pace I encourage some of our local residents to participate in these delightful and rewarding meetings.

Beginning 8 p.m. Friday, May 12, will be our movie series. These movies, loaned from the library, range from cartoons to National Geographic Specials. An eye to this column will reveal the following week's film. There is no admission charge.

On Saturday, May 13, at 11 a.m. our Crafts for Kids program will begin. Wall hangings, sand art, clay necklaces, ojo de dios (Eye of God) are some of the projects planned. Again the current project will be listed in this column.

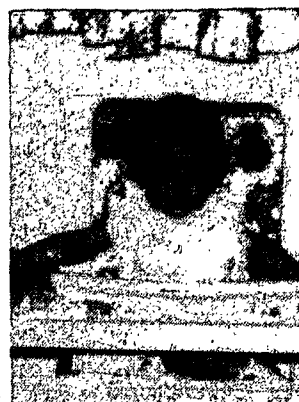

Beginning May 23, every Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. we will gather for card games. Depending upon the wishes of the participants, we will make decisions as to which games we'll play. This is planned more for a social hour than a card shark's paradise.

These are the continuous programs planned thus far. More may emerge throughout the summer. If anyone is interested in teaching a class here, we can probably work something out. Contact Diddy Quinlan at 467-3822.

Teachers essay contest results

Winners have been chosen in the essay writing contest for grades seven through 12 at the Bay St. Louis public schools.

Sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Federation of Teachers, two first prizes of a $50 bond were awarded for local level winners. State winners will receive additional $100 bond, while area winners will receive a like $50 bond.

The essays were limited to 500 words and addressed themselves to two subjects. The junior theme was: Why do I need a good education? Seniors wrote on, 'What Are The Qualities of a Good Teacher?'

Senior Division

Subject:

The qualities of a good teacher

JULIE BARRETT

Julie Barrett-

$50 bond

Every day a new teacher enters the field of education and each new teacher sets out to fulfill his or her goals. These goals almost always are made with the intention of succeeding in helping students learn and become interested in learning. However, in order for a teacher to be successful, he must have quality within him both as an individual and as a teacher. These qualities are humanism, knowledge, and patience.

To be human is the most desiring quality needed in a teacher. He must be able to understand his pupils and communicate with them on their level. Showing emotions will enable students to say, hey, he's a person, alive and breathing, just like us. They will respect the teacher's feelings and treat him as a friend instead of a thing to be hated. Kindness on the teacher's part will also open the doors to clearer communications. Love for his job will reflect in the teacher's attitude toward his work and his students. In turn the students will learn more and will become aware of the vast expanse of knowledge in the world.

Knowledge also plays a big part in the quality of a good teacher. Not only must he know and understand the things he teaches, he must also be aware of the students' interest on the subject and their need for education. Working individually with each student will greatly help but since this is not always possible, the best solution is to provide as much attention as possible to the individual without disrupting the class as a whole. This requires a lot of concentration and determination but is not impossible.

A third important quality is patience. Students of all ages may not grasp the text as well or as quickly as others. Many times the teacher must go over and over the material and still find those that simply do not understand it. Giving up on them is no solution and neither is yelling at them. Instead, an understanding teacher will take the time to go over the subject individually until the student understands the material and in the process, not blowing his cool or showing his frustration. With patience, a teacher can help students learn much better.

Humanism, knowledge, and patience go hand in hand and a teacher will never obtain success without these three qualities. To have one quality but not the others or only two qualities but not the third will not help a teacher or a student. If a teacher puts himself in the position of the student, he will understand his role better. After achieving these three important qualities, a teacher will most surely surpass his own goals and in doing this, will help many students broaden their field of knowledge.

JULIA PAYNE

I feel that what distinguishes a good teacher from a poor teacher is the method by which he or she presents the lesson.

A teacher does not have to be overly strict to be efficient. A teacher can not permit the students to walk over him, but it does help if he or she is pleasant in the classroom. A teacher must be firm but not a tyrant.

It is true that a student may do well as far as his grades are concerned, but this does not mean that he is well educated. The student may memorize his lesson until after tests and then forget everything as soon as it is no longer needed. But a good teacher will interest the students so they will want to learn and become interested in their studies.

A teacher may use different methods in which to attract the student's interest. If he or she reads directly from the book the students will more than likely become bored. A teacher should add enthusiasm to the lesson.

It is true teachers should not become too involved with their students, but they should show some interest in them. The students are with each of their teachers one, maybe more, hours a day, five days a week, and an average of thirty-six weeks a year. A good teacher will coordinate the lesson with interests of the student.

A good teacher always tries to take an interest in truly sincere students. He or she will help guide such students in their future even if their dominant talent is one not taught by that particular teacher.

If a teacher is really interested he or she will remain on the job longer than during the regular seven, or so, hour work-day. He or she will try to find extra curricular activities for the students which will also further educate them.

A good teacher not only teaches lessons involving his or her classroom subject but also teaches a more important lesson. He or she further educates the students in how to cope with lifetime situations, and how to find a productive future.

Being a dedicated teacher requires giving up part of his or her own time, energy, and private, family life. The financial reward of teaching is not great enough to be the deciding factor, but a good teacher will work for personal satisfaction. A good teacher realizes that more often than not, his or her efforts result in no outside honors or recognition. He or she also learns and accepts the fact that instead of appreciation for their hard work, they sometimes receive criticism.

Everything from the teacher's appearance to his or her actions, in and out of the classroom, serves as an example for the students. A good teacher must realize this above all.

The subjects or courses which one takes in school are very helpful in education.

Each of these subjects is important in becoming a fully developed individual. The study of English is important for communication, written and verbal. Occupational orientation deals with fields in different occupations and answers questions such as: What kind of work best suits my interest and lifestyle? How much education and experience is needed for a particular job?

Civics pertains with government. Government is complicated in some ways. What is written down in black and white is not always what happens in reality. Mathematics is a must. One needs mathematics for balancing budgets, figuring income tax and comparing prices and values of merchandise in stores.

Physics deals with the natural laws. Physics is the science of matter and energy and the interactions between the two. It also analyzes nature and properties of energy and nonliving matter.

At the end of my formal education I should know enough about life and the world around me to live an independent and fulfilling life.

One important thing to remember about education is that it never stops. As one gets older and grows physically and mentally, the individual is able to pull together everything what he has learned in the past in order to live and learn in the future.

REV. AND MRS. CHARLES CLARK AND DAUGHTER, CHARLENE

I believe that I need a good education to be successful in life. While I am young I should try to learn as much as I can. I feel the more I learn and the harder I try, the more successful I will be in life.

Since I have an opportunity to go to school, I am blessed and should feel privileged. In many countries around the world young people do not have such a chance as I do to go to school. Also, if my career requires me to go to college, I should try to go to further my education. A wise saying is, "Remember you are never too old to learn." This I hope to always remember as I progress through the years.

In school, whatever age, level, or grade, I should always try to do my best and to achieve higher goals.

My education will influence my entire lifestyle and habits. Therefore it is important that I should exert every effort to obtain the highest education possible.

Special mention:

Michelle Nadine Benoit

WHY DO I NEED A GOOD EDUCATION

I am writing this report to give you my opinion on why you do need an education.

I am writing this because I think that I've had enough experience to know that it is true I do need my education.

I need my education for many reasons one reason is because of jobs.

How can I get a job without my education? Well, I can but it wouldn't be what I would like.

The only job that I know that I could get is a job cleaning someone's house.

I wouldn't want a job like that because it wouldn't be enough money to support my family if necessary.

That is another reason why I need my education.

I guess you are wondering why I am telling you this.

Well, I'll tell you. I dropped out of school when school.

I knew I was wrong for dropping out of school but didn't want to admit it not at the time anyway. I went back to school when I made my 16th birthday and I'm glad that I did because I have just as much fun at school as I did in the street.

I'm still in the seventh grade and I hate it but if I wouldn't have dropped out of school I would be out of the seventh and into a higher grade.

I would be in the same grade with some of my friends but I wanted to be hard headed in wouldn't listen.

If I would have listened to what one of my teachers said I would be in about the 10th or 11th grade.

Well, I don't mind being in the seventh grade but I would rather be with my friends.

The only thing that I have to say now is whatever you do don't drop out of school because you really do need your education.

I know that I won't ever drop out of school again because it is hard living in this world without your education. So, whatever goes down, don't drop out of school.

AIRMAN FAITH A. FAIRCONETURE AUGUSTINE

An official at Chanute AFB, Ill., has announced the graduation of Airman Faith A. Fairconeture Augustine from the U.S. Air Force's jet engine mechanic course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Fairconeture Augustine, daughter of Mrs. Shirley T. Toregano of 17 Whites Road, Pearlinton, is now trained to inspect and repair turbojet and gas turbine engines, and will serve at David-Monahan AFB, Ariz. Completion of the course earned the individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman is a 1972 graduate of Hancock North Central High School, Pass Christian. Her father, Ray B. Fairconeture, resides at 1622 E. 31st Place, N. Tulsa, Okla. The airman's husband, Anthony, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Augustine of 3817 Havana Place, New Orleans.

Diabetic kid's camp planned for August

A two week camping session for diabetic children, sponsored by the Diabetes Association of Greater New Orleans is scheduled for Aug. 6 to 19 at Camp Whispering Pines, near Independence, Louisiana.

"This year's camp should be more exciting than ever before," said Dr. Jerome Ryan, Director of the Camp, "as fun-filled activities are planned to provide the diabetic child camping experiences under medical supervision."

"These campers," explained Dr. Ryan, "will live, eat, and play with other diabetic children of their own age for perhaps the first time. The trained staff will help them to learn to live with their diabetes and still do the things children enjoy."

"Most families," continued Dr. Ryan, "are rightfully concerned about their child's condition and about the need for supervision, medical attention, and diet. This camp provides every care with a unique combination of recreational and medical supervision."

"Campers at Camp Whispering Pines are housed in facilities which provide accommodations as well as a rustic environment," according to Mrs. Kate Wright, President of the Diabetes Association. Recreation and instructional swimming are under the guidance of certified instructors. Crafts, boating and many other activities are available. "Further," said Mrs. Wright, "the medical staff includes physicians, nurses, dietitians and laboratory technicians, all with special interest in diabetes."

According to Dr. Ryan, only the new U-100 Insulin will be provided and used at the camp.

Campers who apply must be between the ages of 8 and 14 years. Some between the ages of 15 and 17 may apply for counselor-in-training positions.

The cost of the two week camp session is $230. Some assistance is available through scholarships.

Information and registration forms are available from the Diabetes Camp Director, Diabetes Association of Greater New Orleans, 3314 Conti Street, New Orleans, LA 70119 or by calling (504) 524-H E L P.

SINGLE—Todd Ladner pops a single into right field for Hancock North Central Hawks in their win over Vancleave Saturday. (Staff photo-Cathy Lizana)

Hancock Hawks retaliate

Vancleave loss

By SHARON WALLS
The Hancock North Central Hawks racked up their third win of the season in revenge of a loss to Vancleave, 5-3, Saturday at Dedeaux field.

Vancleave got on the board first in the top of the second, but Hancock quickly followed on a double by Alan Dedeaux to centerfield with the bases loaded.

A high fly sailed over the outfield fence for a Vancleave homerun in the third.

Shortstop Barry Arcement stole home in the bottom of the third on an attempted bunt by Jesse Draine to rack up another score for the Hawks and Rickey Peterson came home on a single.

The Hawks tallied their fifth run on a triple by Todd Ladner which sent Dedeaux across the plate. Dedeaux was the winning pitcher.

Two-hitter, two hits give Bay two notches

Frank Henry threw a two-hitter against cross-town rival St. Stanislaus Friday, then returned Monday to lead hitting for the Tigers, going two for four against Notre Dame, as Bay High notched two victories, 3-1, over SSC and 5-3 over Notre Dame.

Henry rolled up 10 strikeouts from the mound in Friday's game and allowed one walk. Scott Cox went the distance for the Rock-a-chaws, giving up nine hits walking one and striking out four.

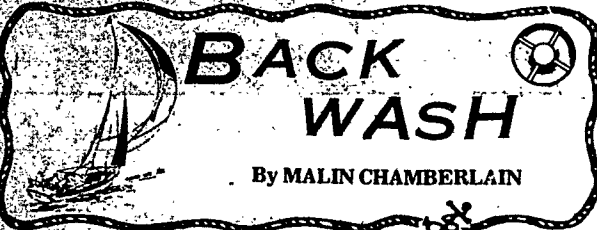

The Pascagoula River Conference opponents were blanked, 0-0, going into the fourth when Bay High got on the board with two runs.

Dwayne Lafontaine singled, followed by a bunt by Joe Cabaniss. The throw to second was late leaving the Tigers holding two bases. Henry bunted with an error on first, then Roy Ruhr bunted with an error on the pitcher. Cabaniss went home on a walk.

Stanislaus scored in the bottom of the fourth on a walk to Kerry Geroux, a single from Todd Edwards and a sacrifice fly by Andrew Haas. Bay finished up with a final run in the fifth as Ricky Manieri, on base by a walk, was driven home by Cabaniss.

Dwayne Lafontaine took the mound for Bay as the Tigers met Notre Dame Monday. He let fly six hits, six strikeouts, and two walks. Henry, two for four, set off Bay hitting while Rickie Hardie and Frank Pernicaro each doubled.

Bay notched two runs in the second as Hardie walked, Henry singled, and Pernicaro doubled. They scored again in the third as Lafontaine singled, Hardie got on base on an error, Henry singled, Cabaniss singled, Pernicaro took base on an error, and Melvin Barnes walked, forcing the runners around.

The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club (BWYC) received top honors for 1977 sailing season at the trophy presentation this past weekend in Pensacola. The Gulf Yachting Association (GYA) presented the Capedeville Trophy to Maurice Eagan, BWYC Commodore, accepting for the club. Also, Bay-Waveland was awarded the Leslie Beard Junior Trophy for the best all around Junior program. Overall, 1977 was an outstanding year for BWYC with a North American Champion, an Adams' Champion, the Lipton Championship, and now the Capedeville and the Beard trophies.

The results of the races held in Pensacola for the GYA Opening Regatta show Southern Yacht Club (SYC) the winner, with Pass Christian Yacht Club second, and Buccaneer Yacht Club as third. Bay-Waveland Yacht Club placed sixth. In the Old Timer's Series of the Opening Regatta, BWYC Skipper Don Chamberlain with finishes of fourth, sixth and fifth placed overall fifth, with Roy Trundle for SYC finishing first.

Sailing will be the topic of a meeting scheduled for 7:45 p.m. Saturday, April 15, in the Junior Room of the Yacht Club. All interested members are urged to attend. Introductory comments will be by Commodore Eagan; the basic rules of the GYA, a schedule of events for the summer sailing season, local sailing program and events will be presented by Chuck Breath, race committee chairman. Others speaking will be, Walter Chamberlain, protest committee chairman, Frank Allen, Scot co-chairman, and; and a history of the BWYC Sailing Program by Harry Chapman, Pete Morrill and Basil Kennedy. Also from 6-8 p.m., Saturday, April 15 there will be a special treat for members and their guests. Come and celebrate "Income Tax Deadline" with fellow members.

CLUB CALENDAR

Hille, Maurigi hurl Bay to first place

Amy Hille and Ginger Maurigi cornered the baseball throw in the field events to boost Bay High's Tigerettes to a 61 point first place finish in the Goula Relays Friday in Pascagoula.

The Tigerettes tallied nearly 20 points more than second place Stone County with 42. Ocean Springs finished in third with 34 and George County tallied 17 for fourth.

Hille hurled the baseball 207 feet six inches for first place while Maurigi claimed third with 197 feet and five inches. Cynthia Jackson took fourth place in the long jump with a leap of 15 feet three inches.

In the sprints, the Tigerettes scored two first place honors. Patricia Jackson was first in the 440 dash in 67.2 seconds with teammate Lisa Thomas placing third at 68.9. Valada Lewis won the 100 yarder in 12 seconds flat with Cynthia Jackson right in her shadow in 12.1 for the second slot.

Lewis posted an 8.9 time for second in the 75 yard dash, with Jackson in third, one tenth of a second behind her.

STATE LEADS DIVISION

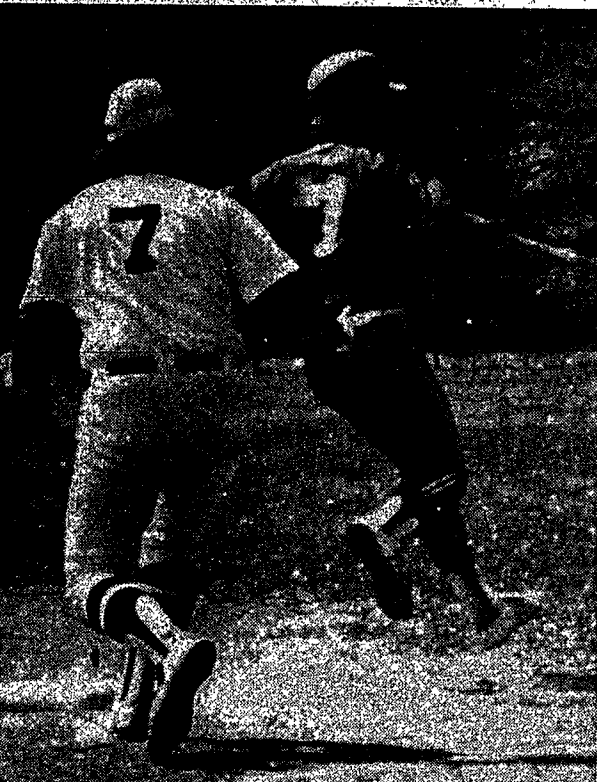

A triple game sweep over LSU this weekend at Dudy Noble Field has given Mississippi State's baseball nine the lead in the conference's Western Division with an 11-4 record. State trounced the Bengals, 12-4, 7-6, and 26-13, in the two day set.

and 6.4 in the 50 for runner up. Janet Sheppard was fourth with 6.6.

Relayers Lewis, Sheppard, Jackson, and Gloria Hargett garnered three blue ribbons in the 200, at 24.6, the 300, at 35.9, and the 440, at 81.5.

CROSSING FIRST—Hawk Barry Arcement dashes over first base, as Vancleave baseman watches ball in right field. (Staff photo-Cathy Lizana)

A famous parable, and its application to our lives

By GRADY S. THIGPEN

We have left undone those things we ought to have done, and we have done those things which we ought not to have done.

These words from the General Confession speak the experience of every man of faith.

"We often hear the expression, 'If I had just done this, or that, how much better off I would be.' Not long ago, a man near Picayune sold $7000 worth of timber off a 40 acre tract of land, which was bare - nothing on it - when he bought it about 24 years ago. Besides this $7000, he had gotten considerable money for poles from this land, and he had used it as a pasture for all those 24 years. He said that it was worth more just for use as pasture than the price he had paid for it when he bought it. A man living nearby told me, 'How I wish I had protected the pine trees on my land like he did. While he was getting all that money from his 40 acres, I have gotten only a few dollars from my 80 acres which joins it.'

When we grow older, look back, and realize how we have wasted our precious time, how we have neglected to use to best advantage our God given talents, and how we have left undone so many things that we ought to have done, we are filled with regrets that we did not do better. Sir James Barrie the British playwright, makes one of his characters describe this common human failing in these arresting words: "Three things they say come not back to men nor women: the spoken word, the past life, and the neglected opportunity."

Spencer Miller wrote an article in Mercury magazine in which he asked this searching question: "How many of us prefer to be judged by our sins of commission rather than by our sins of omission?" In simple words this author says that we do more harm by leaving undone the things we ought to do, than we do by doing the things we ought not to do.

The beautiful poem titled the "Sign of Omission" by Margaret Sangster teaches us a needed lesson:

It isn't the thing you do,
It's the thing you leave undone

That gives you a bit of heartache

At setting of the sun.

The tender word forgotten,
The letter you did not write,

The flowers you did not send
Are your haunting ghosts at night.

The stone you might have lifted
Out of a brother's way;

The bit of heartsome counsel
You were hurried too much to say;

The loving touch of the hand,
The gentle winning tone

Which you had no time or thought for

With troubles enough of your own.

Those little acts of kindness
So easily out of mind,
Those chances to be angels
Which we poor mortals find

They come in night and silence,
Each said reproachful wraith
When hope is faint and flagging;
And a chill has fallen on faith.

For life is all too short
And sorrow is all too great,
To suffer our slow compassion
That tarries until too late;

And it isn't the thing you do,
It's the thing you leave undone

Which gives you a bit of heartache

At the setting of the sun.

The bible story of the ten virgins is one of the most searching and solemn of all the parables in the Bible. The setting is the old time ceremonial of the ancient wedding. The ten virgins went forth to meet the bridegroom, and await his coming. The five who were foolish took no oil with them. But the wise virgins took oil in their vessels with their lamps.

At midnight came the cry, "Behold the bridegroom cometh; go out to meet him."

Then all arose and trimmed their lamps, and the foolish virgins said unto the wise ones: "Give us of your oil, for our lamps are gone out."

But the wise ones answered saying: "Not so: lest there be not enough for us and you; but go ye rather to them that sell and buy for yourselves."

And while the foolish virgins went in search of oil, the bridegroom came, the doors were opened, and the wise ones were bidden within to the marriage feast, and the door was shut.

When the foolish virgins returned, they called out: "Lord, Lord, open to us."

But he answered them and said,

"Verily, I say unto you, I know you not."

Suppose we adapt that parable to our time and conditions. Every boy and every girl is offered the opportunity of a free education. Modern schools and competent teachers are provided, at great expense, and since this country was first discovered it has been easy for anyone to own land and other property.

Many, like the wise virgins, have taken advantage of their opportunities and have developed themselves into competent men and women.

They have gone to school, they have read and studied, and they have cultivated themselves to such an extent that when opportunity comes along they can take advantage of it.

Figuratively speaking, they have kept their lamps trimmed, ready and filled with oil prepared to fill their places in the world. These are the ones who get the good jobs - these are the ones who are hunted out, and offered the best positions in life.

And there are many who are like the foolish virgins. They do not take advantage of their opportunities. They fritter away their time, and when the good jobs are available, they are not considered.

Right here in our small business we come in hunting jobs. We ask, "What can you do?"

When they are questioned, we find in many cases that they are not trained for anything. Again, figuratively speaking, they have no oil for their lamps.

They have not prepared so cannot be considered for certain positions they want. A striking thing about the applications for jobs is that almost 95 percent, maybe more, are the lowest paid positions. It is seldom that a man or woman, who is really capable, is out hunting for a job. In fact there are not enough trained and capable people to fill all the jobs that are open. Trained people are in big demand and can get good jobs practically anywhere anytime.

Pretty much the same thing is true of the farmers, and of all other lines of endeavor. One farmer will use all his land - he will have what he needs in producing farm crops and in good pastures, and the balance of his land will be producing pine timber and other kinds of trees. He will have pecan trees around his home, pine trees on his higher ground and hardwood trees in the low places. This type of farmer is like the wise virgins - figuratively speaking he keeps his lamp trimmed and filled with oil.

In the parable of the talents we find the man who buried his one talent and did not use it, strongly condemned. In many places in the Bible we find the man who does nothing much more strongly condemned than the man who commits sins of commission that stem from human appetites. This reminds me of a question I have often heard my father ask. If someone referred to a man as a "good" man, he would ask, "WHAT is he good for?"

The man who hid his talent was probably a "good" man in one sense but what was he good for? Just being good does not count - it is being good for something that counts in this world now, as it did back in the old days. I believe that we are more condemned by not doing the things we ought to do, than by doing many of the things we know we should not. How many people have you seen with ability who failed to use it for any worthwhile purpose?

You and I are blessed with certain talents. HOW are we using them. THAT is the all important question for you and for me. Are we leaving undone things that we ought to do, have we buried our talents, are we making no use of them? We have the striking example, in the parable of the talents, of what happens when we neglect to use our abilities. When we neglect to use our abilities they are taken from us.

We are told that if we use our talents rightly, they will multiply and bless us. That is true in material things, and in mental development as well as in spiritual things. I believe that one of the greatest sins - probably the worst sin of all is doing nothing. I have much more respect for the man who works and tries even though he is guilty of some things that he ought not to do than I have for the giddy-giddy who never does anything.

Joseph Conrad said, "A man is a worker. If he is not a worker, he is not a real man - he is nothing." Someone else said, "Work is essential food for noble minds," and here is another quotation, "The dead, and only they should do nothing."

Decorating Tips

LIFETIME WALLS

Look around you. Are you surrounded by dull walls? Do your walls just stand there, idly dividing space? Walls line and define interior spaces and they should be treated as an important decorative element.

Of the many possibilities for wall coverings, from ordinary paint to exotic papers and fabrics, hardwood has the most to offer. For one thing, it virtually lasts a lifetime and once installed never needs replacement. Think of the mess and expense periodic painting and papering requires. Well, hardwood lifetime walls not only avoid those traumas but they are practically maintenance free. The bargain. Hardwood for walls is available in two ways to allow maximum customizing. Most prefinished paneling is of hardwood plywood and comes in 4 by 8 foot sheets. Solid hardwood planking used for paneling can be had in various lengths, widths and thicknesses. In addition, the material's many varieties and colors complement the style and feeling of any decor-formal to fun and traditional to stark modern as well as everything in between. You can choose maple, walnut, oak, cherry, birch, rosewood, or many other species and each can be had in a wide range of finishes. This great versatility allows hardwood to be used to add a look of cool elegance or comfortable informality.

Hardwood walls "warm" up a room and using the material with imagination can provide a great variety of decorative effects. Installing narrow planking on the diagonal, for instance, will make a small room appear larger. In an attic room, or one with a slanted, or low ceiling, this diagonal design works particularly well because it seems to push the ceiling upward and generally expands the feeling of spaciousness. In a room with a large expanse of wall space, planking can be used on the diagonal in opposing directions to create a herringbone pattern.

You can also combine various patterns for special, personal effects. A herringbone with horizontal and/or vertical panels is one good looking combination. Space can be delineated by changing the direction of paneling or planking to set off particular areas of a room. Another interesting motif can be achieved by alternating horizontal with vertical panels. The feeling of columns can be created by alternating slender vertical planks (of about 1 foot) with wider areas (3 feet or more) of horizontal, or diagonal patterns. The parquet look can also be recreated on walls with hardwood.

Hardwood and your imagination are an unbeatable combination. Use them together all through the house for great good looks and easy care too!

Any questions on hardwood? Write to Linda Forrest, Hardwood Institute, Suite 1920, 230 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Many confused over medicare, medicaid

Even though Medicare and Medicaid have been operating more than 10 years, many people are confused and think the programs are the same, a social security spokesperson said today.

Although both programs pay for health care, they are different, the representative went on. Medicare, entirely a Federal program, helps pay for hospital care, doctors' services and many other health services for almost everyone 65 and over and for certain disabled people under 65. Medicaid, a Federal-State partnership, pays for health care for certain kinds of needy and low-income people. Some people can have both Medicare and Medicaid.

Medicare is the same in all States, while Medicaid varies from State to State since the States design their own program within Federal guidelines. The only State not having a Medicaid program is Arizona.

Medicare has two parts — hospital insurance, and medical insurance. Hospital insurance helps pay for inpatient hospital care and post-hospital care in a skilled nursing facility or at home from a home health agency. Medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other services not covered by hospital insurance.

Medicaid pays the full costs of these and other health care services for those eligible. Since Medicare pays only part of health care costs, Medicaid can pay the difference for those eligible for both programs.

Medicare hospital insurance is financed by payroll contributions from employers and employees. Medical insurance is financed with premiums, with those enrolled paying about one-fourth of the cost and the Federal Government paying the remainder.

Medicaid is financed by Federal and State governments. The Federal share ranges from 50 percent for the richest States up to 78 percent for the State with the lowest per-capita income. States pay the remaining costs, often with help from local governments.

Flower arranging is homemaker leader subject

Mrs. Pauline Reid gave the leader training program on flower arranging prior to the April 4 meeting of Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council in extension auditorium. Mrs. Ethel Breau, council president, conducted the business session.

Plans were finalized for the flower show and plant sale scheduled for April 25 in extension auditorium; the event will be open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Breau announced a Southeast District meeting on leadership will be held April 28 in Laurel.

The meeting closed with the monthly thought, "I listened and I learned much — I talked, and I met trouble."

The Pearls Extension Homemakers Club of Pearlinton hosted the social hour. The next meeting will be May 4.

SOMEDAY THE HYACINTH WON'T BE A NUISANCE

The water hyacinth. Exotic, beautiful, and a nuisance. It reproduces by the millions, clogging waterways and making bayous impenetrable. Millions have been invested to limit its growth.

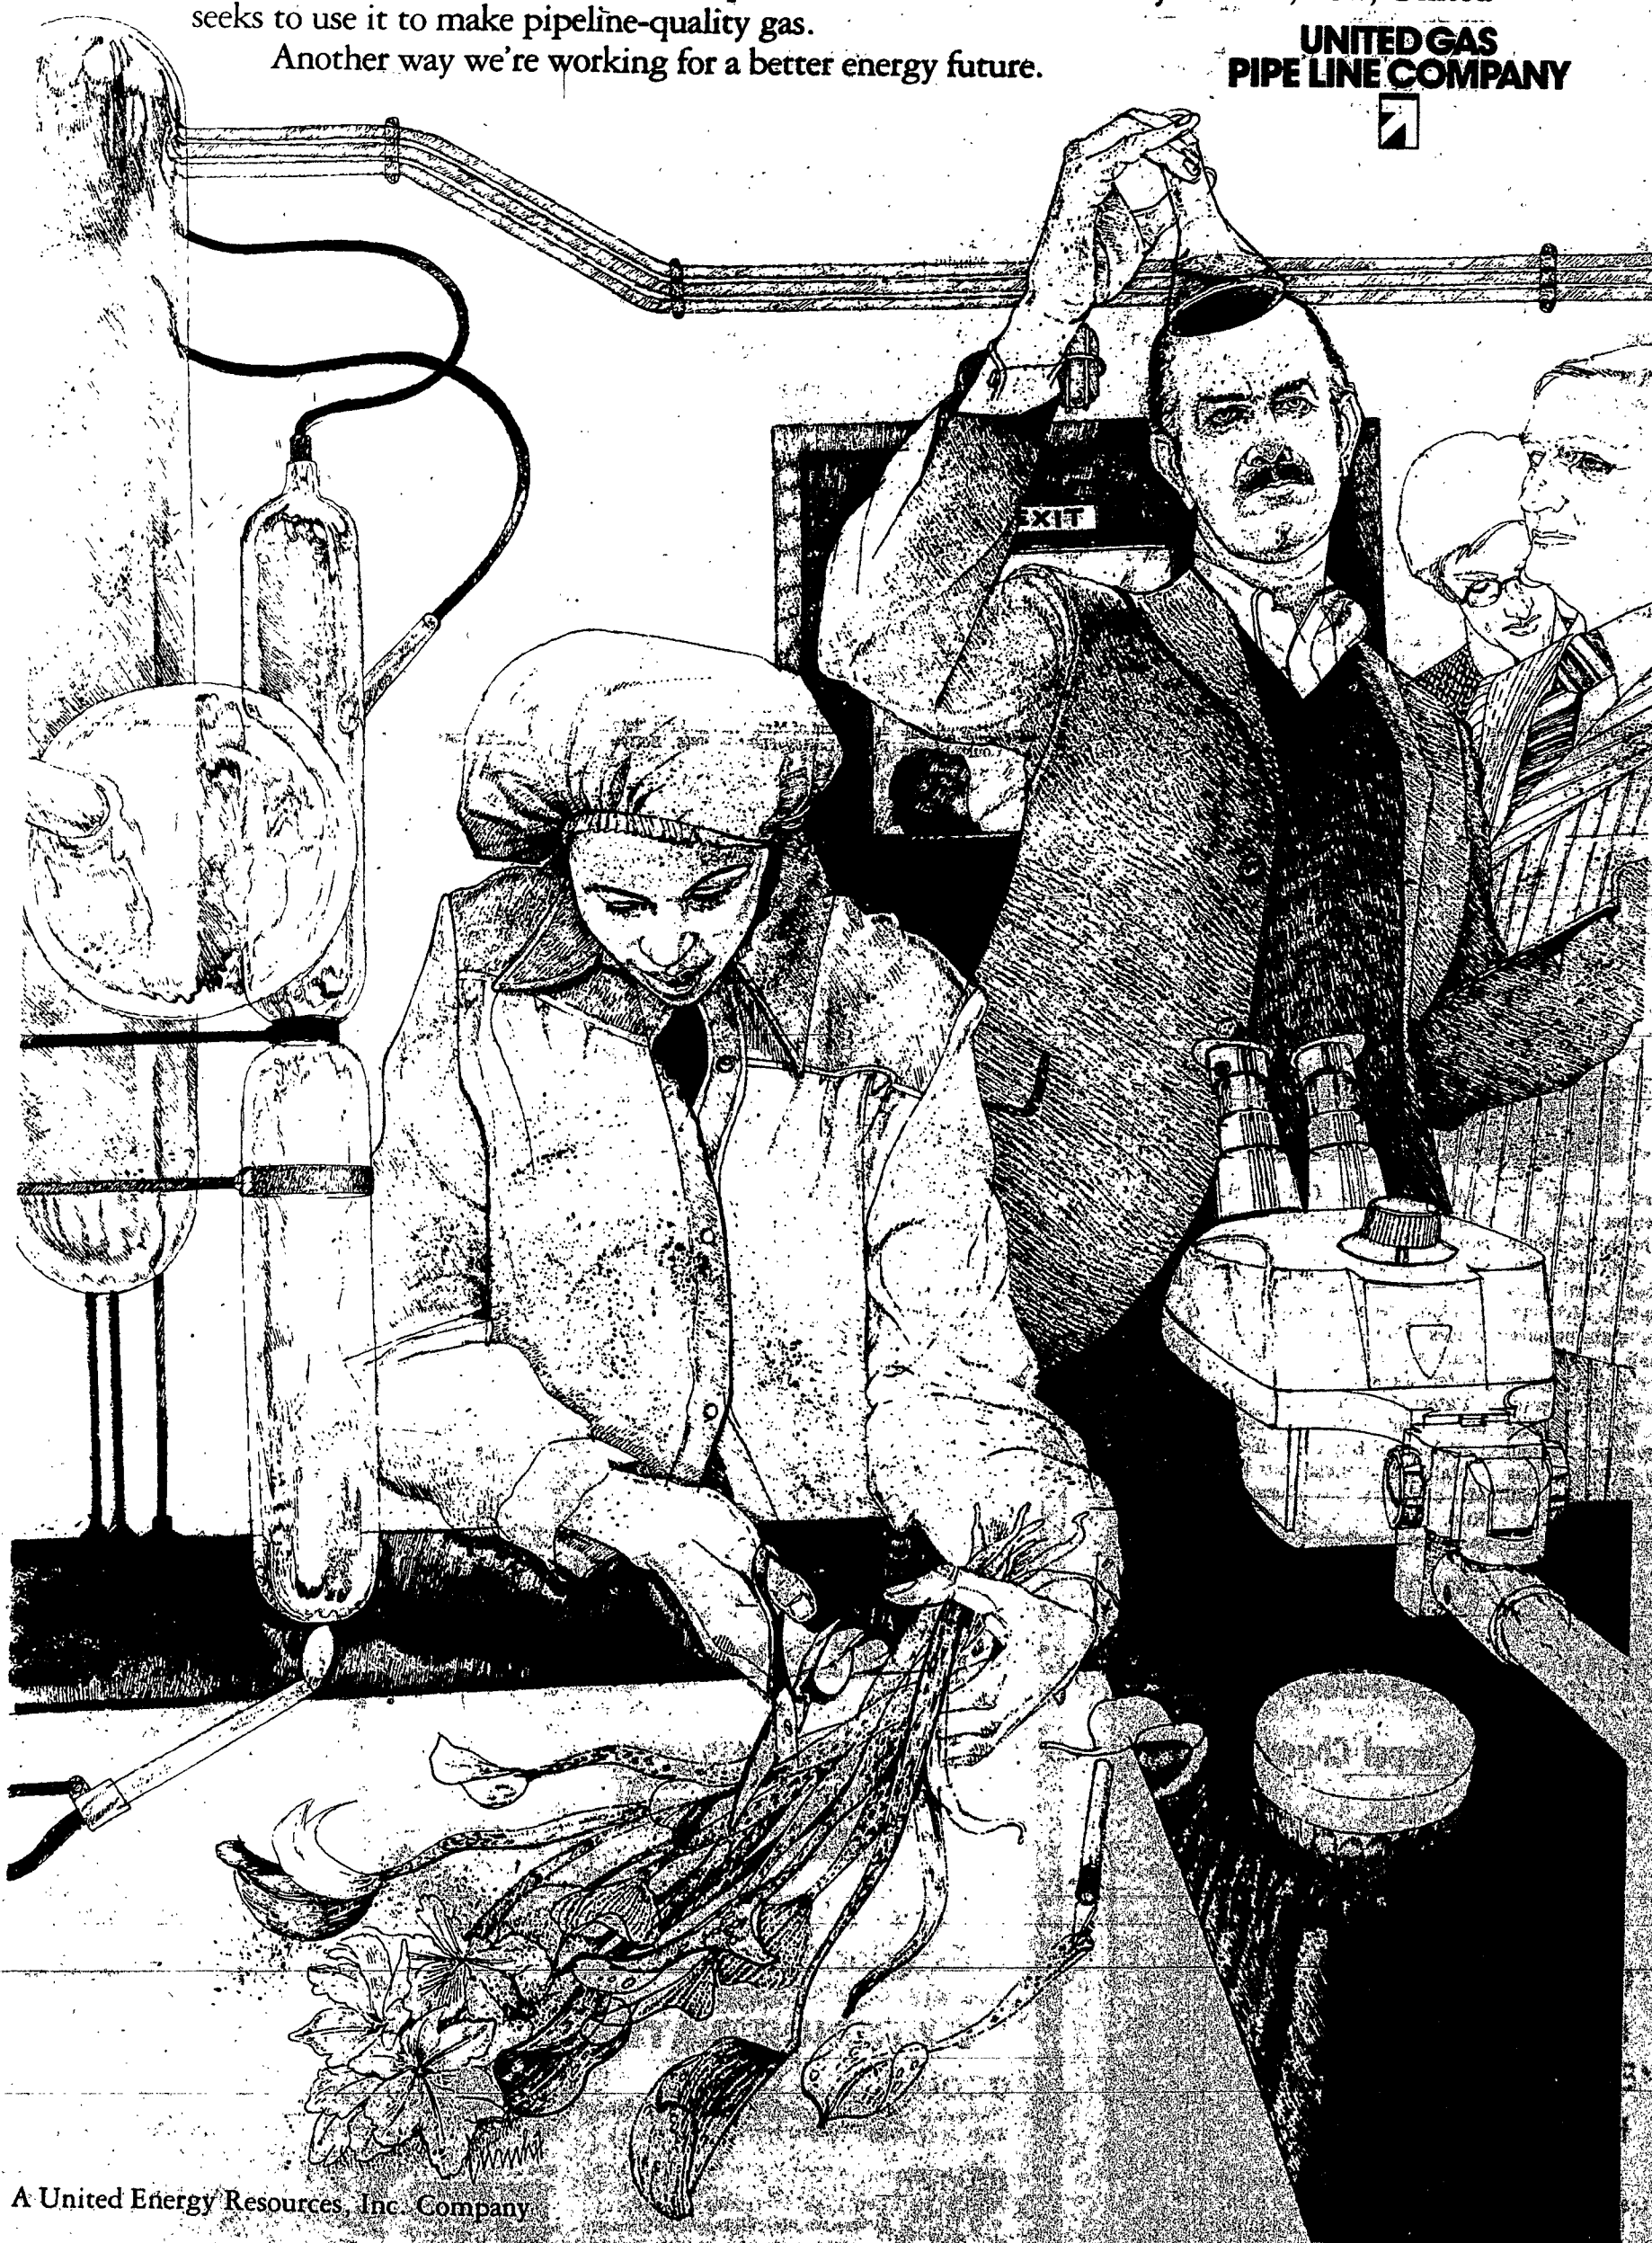

And now United Gas is investing in research and pilot plant projects for converting rapidly-reproducing hyacinths into substitute natural gas. The process is called biomass conversion.

In addition, United Gas is exploring ways to extract significant quantities of gas from agricultural residues and municipal waste.

The principle involved in these processes has been known for years and, now, United seeks to use it to make pipeline-quality gas.

Another way we're working for a better energy future.

COME EXPECTING A MIRACLE

EVERYONE INVITED

In God we find the limitations of life disappear and our hope finds real security. It cost us nothing Jesus paid it all. The Grace of God is free to us, it is sufficient, it is available, personal, individual from God to you-and it is available NOW!!! Why not let God transform you into his very image and likeness within and without, why not let the Spirit of love and forgiveness of God shine within you, like a single candle in this dark world, drawing souls to the foot of the cross? Why not let God reveal Himself to you who doesn't know him through Jesus Christ? John 3:16.
